The Cat's out of the Bag!!

From the Principal's Desk

On Thursday, February 8, we have parent teacher conferences from 1:00-8:00 PM. We scheduled times for parents of elementary students, and parents who have children in junior/senior high, you can come to the gym when it works for you. For parents of elementary students, we only have fifteen minutes in between conferences, so please be on time. Since we do not have scheduled times for junior/senior high students, please try to keep the conference to fifteen minutes and be considerate of others who may be waiting to talk to the same teacher. We will have student schedules available as you enter the gym.

If the time that you are scheduled for does not work, please contact the office as soon you can. Please make every effort to leave your children at home, since an effective parent teacher conference is between the parent and teacher. If no other arrangements can be made to keep them at home, they must remain in the hallway during your child's conference. Please take time to stop and visit with the Art, P.E, and Music teachers and the Librarian. We hope to see you on at conferences on Thursday!

Wrestling

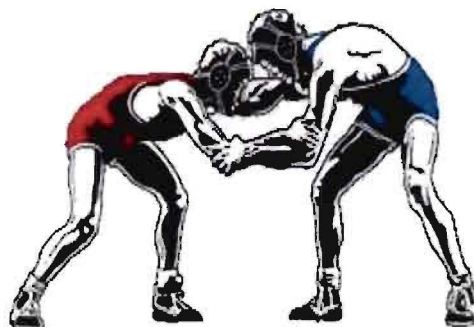

By: Suzy Heusman

The South Loup Wrestling Team has been off to a great start this year. There have been two more meets since the Merna meet. The first one was in Sutherland on December 16. As a team, the Bobcats placed 10th. The second was in Amherst January 6. There, the team placed 7th. At SEM on January 12, they got 5th. At Shelton on January 13, they got 5th there also. The South Loup meet in Callaway, on January 19, they got 10th place.

During winter break, the boys got in a few practices. Over break, they improved and that will make a difference in future meets. According to coach Jim Johnson, "They need to work on going for the easy moves instead of trying the difficult ones and not succeeding. They also need to gain confidence and finish the move that they have already started."

They still have the same goal which is to get as many people as they can to State. The younger guys have made an improvement from coming from JH to high school wrestling and they are determined to get better every day. Every practice, they learn a couple new moves. At the end of practice, they know the moves and they go over old moves as well to see if they still know them.

As you can see, the wrestling team has improved since the season started. They have done very well at getting in shape and are ready for the future meets to come.

Donuts with Dad

By: Matti Stout

On Thursday, January 25, I went to the preschool room and asked them a couple questions about Donuts with Dad. The outcome of people was the same in the morning and the afternoon. They had donuts, fruit, and juice with a male figure.

They decorated picture frames with rocks on them and they said, "My dad rocks!" "This gave the kids an opportunity to spend time with the male figures in their lives", says Mrs. Hickenbottom. I went around the room asking the kids what their favorite parts about today was and they said spending time with their family, eating and making donuts, and overall everything about the day. Some of the kids said they would love to do this project again and others said they would rather not.

Happy 100 days of School

By, Taylor Conroy

On January 18th, the preschool and the kindergarten celebrated 100 days on being in school. The preschoolers brought different examples of items in the number of 100. The fourth grade "Club S" came into celebrate with them, doing different stations including playing with blocks and counting beads, and making crowns. The kindergartners brought in 100 days with a bang! Since 100 days flew by so fast, they took aging pictures of themselves, to see what they will look like as they age. After reading "The Wolf's Chicken Stew", they snacked on crackers and cheese shaped as the number 100. Their bellies were full from devouring 100 pancakes! To end the celebration, the kindergarten class attempted to complete a 100 piece puzzle. Obviously, both grades had a fun filled day celebrating 100 days!

Girls Basketball

By: Kalie Glendy

The Lady Bobcats are 12-2 on this season. They have fallen to Pleasanton and Ansley-Litchfield, both which went into overtime. They are first seed in the MNAC conference tournament this coming week and will play Twin Loup for the second round. They have only four regular season games left which are against Mullen, McPherson County, Anselmo-Merna, and Eustis-Farnam. After these games, they will start into sub-district at the beginning of February.

Bobcat of the Month

By Suzy Heusman

"Weston has shown hard work and dedication with everything he does. Whether it is in the classroom, on the field, or even in the arena he puts forth his full efforts to be successful. He has really stepped up with his responsibilities within FFA. If there is something needing done, Weston will do his best to help out. He is a great leader in FFA and Agriculture, as well as a great role model to younger students. I am excited to see Weston grow and what the future has ahead of him."
